

REAL COMPAÑÍA DE VINOS

La Tierra de Castilla, Spain

The Real Compañía winery is owned and managed by the Murua family, whose history in the wine business dates back to 1926. Julian and his son Javier, manage the family business. The Murua family run their winery with the mission to meld the long-held winemaking traditions of the region with new technologies in order to make wines that express the “best qualities” of the grapes coming from the La Mancha region in Central Spain. The grapes come from 30 to 70 year old vines and are grown in red calcareous and stony soils. The climate in this region is continental, with cold winters and hot summers. During the summer months, there is great contrast between the day and night temperatures, which help the grapes reach optimum ripeness.
