

GEORGES DUBŒUF

BEAUJOLAIS NEWS

As we wrote in our last newsletter, the Beaujolais region has been blessed with weather conditions verging on sheer perfection. We'll remember these long, warm harvest days for some time to come, offering grapes at their optimum maturity for an early, generous and wonderfully high-quality harvest. It was a pleasure to watch these grapes come in, and we know that the brilliant sunshine during the harvest will be reflected in an exceptional vintage.

Now that the fermentation phase is over, we can confirm that this vintage will be among the greatest we've ever known. For the past four weeks, we've been focusing on tasting our Beaujolais Nouveau and Beaujolais-Villages Nouveau so we can blend and craft the best possible expression of these wines.

It is a pleasure to present this new vintage and revel in the deep purple and garnet colours, the wonderfully velvety tannins and the delectable flavours of red and black berries. The beautifully rounded aromas and exceptional tannins work in perfect harmony for this Beaujolais Nouveau, which our consumers will discover on the 15th of November. So let's look forward to tasting this with our friends and family, and enjoy a little summer sun before winter sets in.

See you soon !
Beaujolais yours,

Georges DUBŒUF
The 9th of October 2018