- 93 pts. James Suckling, Feb. 11, 2017

“Complex aromas of wet earth, dried meat, leaves and forest fruits. Subtle. Medium body, fine tannins and a fruity finish. Shows balance and beauty. Drink now.”

- 90 Pts. Wine Spectator, Dec. 31, 2016

“ This appealing red boasts ripe blackberry, cassis and plum notes woven together with violet, mineral and pink peppercorn details. Juicy, tangy acidity serves as a good backbone through the graphite-tinged finish. Grippy tannins.”

- 90 Pts. Wine Spectator, Feb 28, 2013

“Creamy and finely knit, with lots of ripe raspberry and boysenberry fruit, featuring accents of smoky mineral, dried herb and spice. Framed by supple tannins and lightly juicy acidity throughout. Drink now through 2020.”

2009

- 90 Pts. Wine Spectator, Feb. 28, 2011

“This aromatic red shows nice grippy tannins, but it's well-balanced, with a thread of minerality running through it. Offers attractive flavors of ripe cherry, blackberry and fig, followed by a tight, juicy finish. Drink now through 2015.”

- 90 Pts. Wine Enthusiast, Nov. 1, 2009

“Big and powerful, this is a rich, concentrated expression of ripe Gamay. The black plums and cherries are mouth-filling, almost sweet, with tannins that show generosity as well as structure. Age for 1–2 years.”
