- 92 Pts. James Suckling, Feb. 22, 2018

“A neat, fluid and very composed palate that has good detail and fruit depth, pushing the raspberry flavors into fine, long and fresh tannins. Drink now.”

- 93 Pts. James Suckling, Feb. 11, 2017

“Dark berries, pine nuts and wet earth on the nose. Hints of spices, too. Medium body, tight, integrated and finely polished tannins and a long and caressing finish. Focused fruit in the center palate. Drink now.”

- 90 Pts. VINOUS, January 2017

“This big, burly effort is structured and solidly textured. It has weight accompanying the blackberry flavor, with a firm character that demands aging over at least 18 months. The finish is still firm and concentrated.”

- 89-90 Pts. Wine Advocate, Aug. 30, 2016

“The 2015 Morgon Domaine de Mont Chavy (a tank sample) comes from a vineyard owned by Frank and Laurent Chavy. It has plenty of blueberry jam and cassis scents on the nose, which becomes quite floral in the glass. The palate is medium-bodied with sweet dark cherry fruit, boysenberry and a lovely spicy/white pepper note sprinkled over the finish. This has very good potential.
