

Rosé Solera NV

“Press Highlights”

- 94 Pts. – JAMES SUCKLING, January 2024

“Pale rose gold in color with complex notes of walnuts, honey, pastries, parmesan and dried flowers. Soft, creamy and refined, with silky bubbles and yeasty layers. Dry and focused. Drink now or hold.”

- 93 Pts., One of the Year’s Best Champagnes – WINE & SPIRITS, December 2021

“This wine gains its color from a solera of pinot noir, representing eight percent of the blend; reserve wines account for another third. The pale pink color implies the wine’s delicacy, but not its layers of complexity. It layers notes of ginger, strawberries and roses over red currants, lasting on a savory, lacy intensity. Ready to enjoy.”

- 93 Pts. – DECANTER, July 7, 2021

“With aromas of red berries, spring flowers, pastry, smoke and strawberry/raspberry hints, the Rosé Solera from Palmer & Co has a dynamic palate with a fine bead of bubbles energizing its vinous, almost full-bodied texture..”

- 93 Pts. – VINEPAIR, June 2, 2023

“...This is a unique rosé because Pinot Noir is drawn from a solera system, most widely known for use in Sherry production in southern Spain. The result is a wine with exceptional depth and character. The nose is deep with notes of pastry dough and the brambly aroma of wild strawberries. But the fine bubbles the work of keeping the wine refreshing and lifted.”

- 92 Pts. – WINE SPECTATOR, November 30, 2019

“This well-cut, mouthwatering Champagne shows some toast, with hints of grilled nut and spice lacing the white cherry and blood orange granita flavors as they ride the satiny mousse and minerally finish.”

- 90 Pts. – WINE SPECTATOR, November 30, 2022

“Dry and satiny on the palate, this offers up-front notes of white raspberry, delicate herbs, fleur de sel and orange peel that are more subtle though to the finish...Drink now.”
