2015

- 92 – WINE ENTHUSIAST, Aug. 2017

“This rich, smoke- and wood-flavored wine shows great potential. It also has plenty of black fruits that give it a ripe full character. The spice from wood aging is still right up front and needs time to settle down to become a dense, balanced wine with fruit and structure all in place.”

2014

- 92 – WINE ENTHUSIAST, November 2016

“Aged for a year in wood, this concentrated structured wine is seriously rich and concentrated. It has a dark texture and smoky flavors of licorice as well as black plum fruit. It is complex and powerful and would benefit from more aging.”

2013

- 91 – ‘BEST BUY’ - WINE ENTHUSIAST, Aug. 1, 2015

“One of the star grapes of the Alentejo, this is a ripe, full-bodied and deliciously juicy wine. Almost black in color, it is packed with tannins, spice, intense acidity and a fine structure. It could do with some aging, so drink from 2016.”
