

CORTONESI LÈONUS TOSCANA IGT

Press Highlights

2022

- 94 – THE SOMM JOURNAL, August 2025

“A single block in a vineyard planted 20–25 years ago in the northeastern part of Montalcino produces the grapes for this stunning blend of 85% Sangiovese with small amounts of Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon, and Petit Verdot. With its billowy mouthfeel and silky tannins, it’s an overachiever at its price point. White pepper, Morello cherries, and rose petals deliver a most approach-able Super Tuscan, or as Tommaso Cortonesi refers to it, Super Montalcino.”

- 91 – JAMES SUCKLING, July 2024

“This shows notes of bright and fresh red berries with notes of dried herbs and spicy cedar nuances. Medium-bodied, tense and lively on the palate, with dusty tannins and attractive mineral complexity at the end. Drink or hold.”
