

FERNLANDS MARLBOROUGH SAUVIGNON BLANC 2025

Marlborough, New Zealand

TASTING NOTES: Exceptionally aromatic, exuding vibrant aromas of zesty lime, gooseberry, and a hint of box hedge. The generous palate delivers flavors of juicy tropical fruit and citrus, underpinned by herbaceous green bell pepper. The lively Marlborough acidity provides a clean, invigorating finish.

VITICULTURE: The 2025 vintage will go down as one of the most memorable in Marisco's history – and not just for the scale. With Marlborough delivering a warm, dry summer and a settled, golden fall, our vineyards yielded a generous crop of exceptional quality.

It was a season that demanded care, precision and collaboration. From the vine to the winery, our teams met the challenge with passion and purpose. The fruit came in clean and ripe, with vibrant flavors and stunning balance. Now, with ferments finishing and blending underway, we're already tasting the promise of another remarkable release.

As Brent, our Chief Winemaker, put it: "Harvest 2025 was a collective effort full of positive energy – and the wines look exciting!"

VINIFICATION: Sauvignon Blanc fruit was harvested at optimal ripeness, pressed and cold settled. Juice was inoculated with specific yeast strains that enhance the varietal intensity followed by a long, cool fermentation to encourage the development of tropical notes. The wine was bottled early to promote freshness.

STORY: New Zealand is known for its pristine, dramatic beauty and distinctive flora and fauna. Fernlands Sauvignon Blanc captures the essence of New Zealand purity – like the rivers that flow through the mountains and forests.
